The city and Formula E

The special administrative region on China's south coast is one of the world's most densely populated metropolitan areas. Formula E is racing there for the third time since the 2016/2017 season.

Local mobility

Hong Kong's comprehensive local public transportation system is regarded as exemplary around the world. 14,000 of the roughly 470,000 privately owned vehicles there (approx. three percent) are electric. The financial and trade center aims to become the most sustainable metropolis.
